You answered 3 out of 3 questions correctly

1. Character Change (ie: change of clothes, fictitious backstory) is ideal when the building you're breaking into will be occupied or whose occupation status is unknown.

It is ideal to perform a Character Change if the building you're breaking into will be occupied or may be occupied. By changing into a "character," it can help visually substantiate your presence in the building should you be seen by staff, etc.

2. Emergency maps posted inside a facility can often help red teamers establish their position inside a building and potentially aid in reaching their intended destination inside the facility.

Emergency maps often help red teamers navigate through facilities that may not have prior knowledge of its layout.

3. It is very easy to exploit gaps in motion sensor coverage since they can be identified using NVGs.

The field of coverage for motion sensors cannot be identified with NVGs, nor are the gaps in coverage easy to exploit or bypass.
